Joyce Kilmer, author of "Trees and Other Poems," has been killed in action, according to reports which reached New York yesterday. He was a sergeant in the 165th Infantry, having been transferred from the 7th Regiment when the 69th was being recruited to war strength at the time of the organization of the Rainbow Division. Sergeant Kilmer was a writer of both prose and verse, and was also known as a lecturer. Newspaper dispatches mentioned him a week ago as engaging with Major Donovan of the 165th in an enterprise against the Germans on the Vesle. He was thirty-one years old and leaves a widow and four children. He was a graduate of Columbia University.

Private Thomas F. Ambrose, who was wounded in action, according to a letter from him received by his parents, is the first drafted man from East Orange, N. J., to fall in France. He was formerly a policeman there.

Private Irving Neiman, of East Orange, N. J., also wrote that he had been wounded in the left knee. His father died last April while the young man was enlisting with his regiment.

Corporal Edward S. Mulligan, of the 165th Infantry, killed in action, lived when in New York with an aunt, Mrs. Mary Mulligan, at 2026 Walton Avenue, The Bronx. He had served three years in the regular army before enlisting in the 69th Regiment, when the United States declared war.

Corporal Richard Calligan, reported missing in action, is the second of three residents of New Brunswick, N. J., who sailed for France last March to be reported missing.

Private Charles Corsetino died in a Red Cross hospital in France, according to a letter which has been received by his father, Peter, who lives at 686 Liberty Avenue, Brooklyn. The letter was from his lieutenant and did not state the cause of death nor the date.

Private Edward A. Platin, of Company I, 165th Infantry, severely wounded on July 31, lives at 43 St. Felix Street, Brooklyn. He is the twenty-three-year-old son of Max and Sarah Platin.

Private Fred John, of the 805th Infantry, severely wounded on July 18, is twenty-four years old, of 155 Bristol Street, Brooklyn. His mother was notified that his right arm had been amputated.

First Lieutenant John T. Harmon, who was wounded in action on July 19, was formerly financial advertising manager of The Tribune. He was a graduate of the second Plattsburg Officers' Training Camp and has been in France for some months. Lieutenant Harmon's wife, who lives at 139 West Eighty-sixth Street, received a letter from him, dated July 21, in which he told her his injuries were not serious and urged her not to worry.

Private Patrick J. Farley, of the 165th Infantry, who was killed in action, lived with a brother at 452 West Fifty-seventh Street.

Private Thomas Fitzgerald, of the 165th Infantry, who was killed in action, lived with an aunt at 132 West Sixty-third Street, and the report of his death quieted the children in the block last night, with whom he was a great favorite. He had been in the United States a year when he enlisted.

Private Joseph J. Bernat, severely wounded on July 17, is the son of Michael Bernat, 98 North Ninth Street, Brooklyn, and is a member of Company I, 165th Infantry.
